The Pioneer of 1931 is an endeavor to portray pictorially the life of the Sacramento Junior College in all its phases—showing the curricular as well as the usual extra-curricular activities. It has been our attempt to show everything of interest occurring in and about the college. The campus itself is being featured as division pages.

DEDICATION

The Pioneer of 1931 is dedicated to Mr. George C. Jensen, Assistant City Superintendent of Secondary Schools, in appreciation of the friendship and interest he has shown toward the Sacramento Junior College Student Body, and of his untiring efforts in working for the welfare of the college.

THE PIONEER TO THE PIONEER

Eighty years ago, while millions of men and women the world over were talking about the discovery of gold in the Sierra Nevadas, thousands of others were steering their ox-drawn and sail-driven ships toward California. In the minds of these Argonauts the important place at the end of the journey was Sutter's Fort in the city of Sacramento. It is significant that the main road across the western half of the continent is traceable by markers and monuments dedicated to the sturdy pioneers who first came over it.

During what probably was the most romantic period in the history of this or any other commonwealth, Sacramento occupied a very unique place and it has since been and will continue to be an important factor in the development of California. It was here that far-seeing pioneers visualized a railroad from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is here that they built an educational institution that is known all over America; and it is altogether fitting that this institution should call its annual THE PIONEER, and should have as its slogan, FORWARD, the watchword of its pioneers.

-J. B. LILLARD, President.

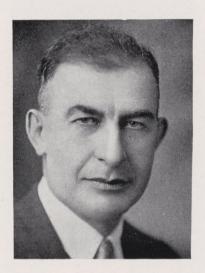

Among the many beautiful, inspiring and pleasurable features of a commencement season there is always the bittersweet of separations. We of the faculty become attached to the students as they in turn develop lasting friendships among themselves. We see them come as freshmen, shed certain provincialisms, become members of the larger society, and eventually blossom out into manhood and womanhood in such brief space. It is hard to see them go. Even so, our most earnest wishes for their continued success go with them.

—H. M. SKIDMORE, Dean of Curricular Activities.

The year 1930-1931 marks a high point in the conduct of our student activities. This is shown in the Student Council, by an increased devotion to duty on the part of the members; by their pursuit of a consistent progressive policy, and by the insistence on a higher standard of performance on the part of all members of the student administrative staff.

Among the numerous achievements of the past year, we may note the revision of the Constitution of the Associated Students, a closer adherence to its provisions, a wider participation in state and district association meetings; the improvement of club programs, and better assemblies.

Space forbids even the listing here of the outstanding activities of the students in athletics, dramatics, music, art, debating, and journalism. Suffice to say that in every instance these public performances have been highly creditable to the institution.

To all members of the college students and faculty who have helped "to promote the general welfare" through extra-curricular activities, goes my heartiest appreciation.

-E. L. Cook, Dean of Extra-Curricular Activities.

This publication is primarily the record of the achievements of the graduating class of 1931, and I wish to direct my contribution to you.

For two years we have been working and playing together, and I shall miss you when you leave our campus. I shall miss your co-operation and the spirit that I have seen developed in you during this time, and I shall miss your friendly faces; but our loss is the gain of some other institution. My wish for you all is that you may take the spirit of endeavor and desire to succeed, which we have watched grow in you, to your future undertakings, and that happiness and success may be your reward.

—Belle Cooledge, Dean of Women.

The thing that is unique about the Sacramento Junior College is the spirit of friendliness and helpfulness shown among the students and faculty of the institution. This spirit is best expressed through the recently established counseling organization. Through its counseling program every effort is extended to help each student to realize his rullest possibilities. We hope that we have helped make less difficult the necessary adjustment which the members of the class of 1931 must make to a modern world.

-HARRY E. TYLER, Dean of Men.

Coach "Hack" Applequist

Although not classed as champions, the Panther gridiron squad set a record during the season of 1930 that is difficult to equal.

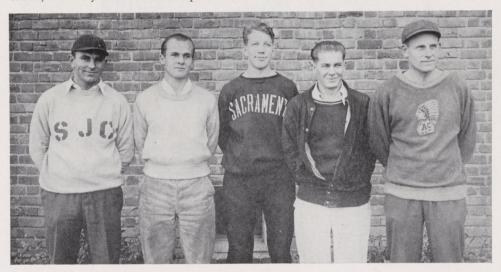

Coaches Hack Applequist, Fred Earle, and Glen Mercer achieved success in that they put a team on the field which stood undefeated at the close of a strenuous schedule.

Sacramento had a conference championship team in the season of 1929 but were unable to be the champions last season because they did not schedule games with enough conference contenders.

"With such a spirited bunch of men to work with, it would have been hard not to have put out a splendid team," stated Coach Applequist, when asked this season to make a statement in regard to the success of the team. Led by the invulnerable Captain Donadio, the Capital City gridders played with ability and aggressiveness throughout. They always had that old fight which is necessary to make a winning team of any squad.

The competition with which the team met was of the keenest type known to any junior college. It was composed almost entirely of college freshmen teams and the Far Western Conference teams. The Stanford Frosh were the first to face the Panther aggregation. The game with them was played as a preliminary game in the Stanford bowl and after much fumbling mingled with a few good plays on the part of both teams, it finally ended in a tie-up.

Another tie came when the California Babes retaliated in the final period by scoring a touchdown to even the points and to end the game with the Panthers well on their way to another touchdown.

The 1930 season brought around another interesting feature in that it was the first time the Panthers had played a game under lights. This game came with the Santa Clara freshmen and was also accompanied by rain and fog.

Then the Capital City team went to San Jose State where they proved to be good but not winners, since the game ended in a scoreless tie.

Guided by Ted Shipkey, former Panther mentor, the Arizona Wildcats came to Sacramento with the idea of taming the Panthers in their own way; but under the lights of Moreing Field Sacramento scored an amazing victory, taking the Arizonians completely off their feet. All ing the Arizonians completely off their feet. All the Panther men were in their best condition. This was the first sectional game participated in by this institution.

Chico and the College of the Pacific, old Sacramento rivals, were both eager to take the success of the Panthers down a notch, but their attempt was in vain as the score both times ended in favor of the locals. Chico was one of the toughest games of the year; they always play their best against Sacramento—just another case of fighting spirit.

Starting the season right, Captain Tony Donadio proved himself a hero in the opening encounter by outwitting the Stanford Babes to tie the final score. On the conversion attempt of the second touchdown, the wiry Panther took a bad pass from center. On finding himself sewed up and unable to kick he neatly evaded the Stanford tacklers and scored the single digit by skirting the end. The Panther team showed marvelout offensive ability but was noticeably weak on defense.

Merely proving themselves superior to the California Babes did not render a victory in this tilt. The Panthers were left with the ball within inevitable scoring distance both at the end of the first half and at the end of the game. Poor defense told heavily on the locals. California was able to score on a long pass and tie the score in the last half when the game was believed to be sewed up. Though early in the season, a powerful scoring machine seemed inevitable.

In the first intersectional game played by the Panthers, Arizona State went down before the powerful drives of the Panther backs. Ted Shipkey, former Sacramento mentor, was in charge of the out-of-state aggregation, which were not up to their regular calibre. Playing marvelous football, the Applequist gridders completely annihilated the fighting Wildcats. They were bewildered by the speed and deceptiveness shown by the Sacramento team. Not at their best, which was somewhat due to a casualty on the first play, the Arizona men played a downhill game throughout the contest. The Arizonians made the first advance of note due to a bad exchange of punts. They soon lost their confidence, however, as soon as the Panthers got the ball in their possession. They tore off yards at random and had little or no trouble stopping their opponents.

This was the first home game and initial night encounter. Rain, slippery turf, and the blinding light rays did much to hinder both teams in aggressiveness. For the first time this season the Panther squad clicked perfectly. Each man knew his part and handled himself as a piece in a clock. Improvement was especially noted in regard to defense.

S. J. C. 72, S. F. U. 12

As a meteor hurling itself through space, the Panthers, with the exception of the third quarter, were irresistible. Being held scoreless in the third period by their weaker opponents infuriated the local squad and inspired the men to make a four touchdown retaliation in the final period of the game. Every man on the squad got a chance to prove his worth in this game. Even with poor opposition, the entire team was given a good workout.

first half with each team taking its turn with the ball, usually losing it on downs, several spectacular plays being made by each team. The half ended 7-6 in favor of the locals. In the second half the Panthers became wound up and never ran down, which in turn netted them another touchdown. The game was the roughest participated in this year, but this is expected in this game. Chico always fights its hardest against Sacramento.

Tony Donadio wasn't satisfied with the thrills he had given the Sacramento football fans during his two seasons in the Junior College so he had to run through San Mateo's entire team for a touchdown on the kickoff of the second half. This one play completely shattered the defense of the Bulldogs so that the Panthers were able to handle the situation with ease during the remainder of the contest. The first half was played on an even basis, each team scoring a touchdown and converting. The lack of reserve material, however, proved fatal to the DeGroot squad. When their defense cracked they were at the mercy of the Panther offense. After this two more scores were registered with comparative ease.

The lack of reserve material proved to be the downfall of another good team and the loss of a coveted game for Coach Righter. Battling against the heaviest opponents of the year and the fastest backfield the Panthers found it hard to make headway. When they did do something of note it was always counteracted by a fumble or penalty. There was no score until early in the fourth period when the Panthers, taking advantage of a Pacific fumble on the opponents forty yard line, crashed over to start a scoring spree. From this time on they were a different team. The Stockton team wilted when the Panthers scored. From this time on Righter continually substituted, but the reserves were unable to hold the powerful reserve material substituted by Coach Applequist. Winning this game ended the season undefeated which is an honor to be coveted by any team.

Barbarious officiating cost Coach Applequist a victory in this game as well as the injury of several star players. The Staters were completely outplayed by the Panthers, the latter making 17 first downs to three of their opponents. Two touchdowns scored were of no avail, the officials immediately recalling the ball because of some insignificant detail which in some cases never happened. Not at their best in this game, the Panthers proved themselves capable of handling Far-Western conference teams.

BASKETBALL

Although ending the season as a mediocre aggregation, Coach Fred Earle's Panther basketeers were a better team than their conference standing designated. One tough break after another seemed to be knocking at the door of Earle's chances for a championship team, taking toll by the way of players and games. Many aspirants were injured during the season, and the style of play was changed to meet the material available. Several games were lost in an extra period of play, or in the last minute of the game, and this accounted for the greater percentage of the games lost.

Beginning the season with a squad of unknown material, Coach Fred Earle arranged a number of games for practice tilts which proved of worth to the Panther mentor. In the first tilt with the Stockton Amblers the local five looked like sure champions, beating their first opponents 18-15. In a return game the Panthers lost 30-24. The Lincoln Zebras won their first game from the local by the score of 40-31 but were unable to hold their superiority and lost the return tilt 44-25. In a twin bill with the Y. M. I., the Earle cagers showed up well in the first game, winning by 29-21. In the second game, however, they lost their bearings toward the last of the game and let the Instituters tie the score and then beat them by the score of 32-30.

CHICO 47, S. J. C. 17 (First game) CHICO 45, S. J. C. 20 (Second game)

Attempting a new system in these games proved to be a great disadvantage, as the scores readily reveal. Chico's towering guards held Sacramento from getting near the basket, and as they were unable to sink long shots, they were just out of luck so far as much scoring was concerned. Hopes somewhat dwindled in this series, but the players became more enthusiastic and were out every night trying to produce the team which other colleges seemed to have. The principal downfall came in scoring, which seemed next to impossible.

Building a team around the nucleus of Captain Gordon Daniels and Lamar Sidener, the only returning veterans, Coach Earle and Coach Mercer did well to cope with the veteran teams in the league. Many enthusiastic recruits were put through the ropes of fundamentals and rounded into an average junior college squad. The Meanwell system was used for a while, but did not work with entire satisfaction, and modifications were employed to give the squad a smooth working defense and offense. In that the squad scored the same number of points as were scored against them, proves they belonged in the upper division of the standing.

Those who made their letters in basketball are: Captain Gordon Daniels, Lamar Sidener, Cliff Howard, George Santos, George Gastman, Stan Gregory, Keith Singleton, Jim Boylin, Dick Hanlin, Jack Reiff, Ray Kirk.

CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNICAL 16, S. J. C. 38 (First game) CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNICAL 12, S. J. C. 40 (Second game)

Leading his team in a double victory, Captain Daniels connected with the basket for the first time this season, scoring 15 points in the first game. Keith Singleton, Cal. Aggie star, broke into his first game and played well considering his short time with the team. There was never a doubt in either game after the first few minutes as to who would emerge victorious. The Panther squad clicked both nights, and it is evident that the southern team was somewhat off its regular game. Sacramento looked better in these games than before during the season. As a result Coach Earle is working on a new combination.

Again, a one point difference cost the Panther aggregation a victory. San Mateo took both games of the series, winning the first in easy manner but taking the last encounter by a single point when Father Time decided the game had gone long enough. Again and again the Panthers shot at the San Mateo basket with the game in balance but were unable to make a point. A foul, called on Jack Rieff, who played a wonderful game, was converted by the Mateans, making the winning digit. Singleton took the high point honors while Sidener played his usual good game at the forward post.

SANTA ROSA 27, S. J. C. 36 (1st game) SANTA ROSA 24, S. J. C. 29 (2nd game)

Climaxing the season by winning a twin bill proved that the Panthers had found a combination that would really work. Stan Gregory, a sensational guard, can be credited with having a lot to do with the winning of these games in that he stuck so close to the all-conference forward, Ecklan, that the latter was unable to get away with his usual high point performances. Singleton went wild for the first time this year and scored 26 points the first night and 12 the second. Our greatest regret is that Sacramento could not have found this combination when it would have done the most good.

MARYSVILLE 20, S. J. C. 34 (1st game) MARYSVILLE 31, S. J. C. 30 (2nd game)

Splitting the series with Yuba City marked one of the most exciting games of the year. There was not much of note in the first game with the exception of Stan Gregory playing his first game, in which he looked quite impressive. With five seconds to play Cliff Howard sunk one from the middle of the floor to knot the score. This called for an extra period during which time the Panther took a multitude of shots but failed to register one that counted. With about three seconds to play in the extra period a Yuba Citian took a shot from the middle of the floor to win the game.

MODESTO 31, S. J. C. 30 (1st game) MODESTO 35, S. J. C. 20 (2nd game)

Pulling up from behind in the last few moments of play and winning out by a toss from the center of the floor in the last few seconds to play, the Modesto Pirates took the first game of the series from the Panther hoopsters. In the second game the local quintet was unable to find the basket and consequently was forced to let the opponents have the second game also. They had many more shots than did Modesto but just could not hit. Concentration on the bucket was necessary if the Panthers were to expect to make any place in the conference. So far they had been unable to give an impressive account of their accuracy.

MENLO 43, S. J. C. 13 (1st game) MENLO 47, S. J. C. 22 (2nd game)

Meeting Menlo in the second conference series brought the crippled Panther squad another pair of defeats. The Menlo champs were wizards on the floor and swept the Sacramentans off their feet in the first game. In the second game, however, Jim Boylin, the lanky center, guarded Le Combe in a superb manner for the first half, which ended 17-14 in the Oaks favor. Boylin was forced to leave the game. This gave Menlo a chance to hit their stride, and they amassed 47 points before the game was over. These games looked bad for the Panthers, but several outstanding discoveries were made. If the team could continue to function as it had for the first fifteen minutes, it would get some place.

MARIN 25, S. J. C. 21 (1st game) MARIN 26, S. J. C. 25 (2nd game)

Opening the Northern California Junior College basketball conference with the Marin basketeers cost Coach Earle two close decisions—25·21 and 26·25. Both games were close and proved quite exciting during the entire game. Both teams battled for supremacy throughout the contest and the winner remained concealed until the fatal gun ended the games, each time with the Panther squad on the short end. Otis Bennett was the individual star each night, with Captain Daniels a close runner up. Failure to find the bucket at the crucial moments proved fatal to a Panther victory.

TRACK

Through the untiring efforts of Coach Fred Earle, the greatest track team in the history of the Sacramento Junior College has been assembled. In bringing track into its own at the college Coach Earle has created enough interest in this activity to make it outstanding.

In the 1931 season Sacramento was for the first time ceded a chance in the conference and, due to its outstanding performers, was recognized throughout superior California.

The Panthers' winning team was led by Captain Everett Winn. Everett is the outstanding miler of the conference and has created a winning spirit.

Many excellent teams were encountered during the course of the season and defeat was met but once and that was to the California Freshmen, who upset the score by winning by 20 points. The Panthers created a big surprise by taking second place in the college class at the 20-30 relays and were but a few points behind Fresno State, the winners of the meet. Menlo caused the greatest trouble of the year by having a team nearly equal to that of the Panthers. Each time the teams appeared in outside meets there seemed to be a duel between them. Modesto, although not having its customary championship teams, was placed third in conference standing.

SACRAMENTO 68, STANFORD 53

The Panther team, with four Sacramento High School athletes, decisively beat the Card Babes in their first encounter of the year. Marshall Wells was the high point man of the meet with 11½ points. He took both sprints and ran a lap in the mile relay. Winn came through to defeat Azevedo in very good time. Sim beat the Cardinals by taking the 440 with the time of 52:8, a remarkable feat. We showed up very well in the middle distance events. Sim won the 440, with Causbrook and Miller taking first and second in the half mile.

the Panther squad in the half mile and won the event in the remarkable time of 2:03.8. Kilfoil beat Wells in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Field events proved to be the weak portion of the Panther squad. Upsets in the jumping events proved fatal.

SACRAMENTO 86, CHICO 35

Without the service of several of the regular star athletes, Coach Fred Earle's Finther team beat Chico badly. Bardin and Bennett were double winners in the sprints and hurdles, respectively. All the Panther participants came through with all they had, and Chico was badly beaten.

SACRAMENTO 68, MENLO 53

Completely upsetting the predictions compiled by Russ Sweet, Menlo track coach, the Panthers walked off with the meet against Menlo without a great deal of trouble. All the Sacramento men came through in surprising style, and they looked like a championship aggregation from the start. Wells took the sprints, Winn the mile, Causbrook the half, Reemts the high jump, Morrison the high hurdles, Nicholls the discus, and Chaix the javelin. The Panthers made a clean sweep in the half mile, with Miller and Winn taking second and third. Bennett came through in the hurdles, taking second in the lows and third in the highs. Nicholls caused a surprise by taking a third in the shot. Bardin, another fleet-footed Panther man, took second in the hundred and third in the 220, further upsetting the Menlo team.

SACRAMENTO 72, CALIFORNIA AGGIES 58

Wright of the Davis team was defeated by Causbrook of the Panther pack in the half mile in the fast time of 2:02.4, which was the feature of the day. The Panthers had little trouble taking the meet with the California Aggies.

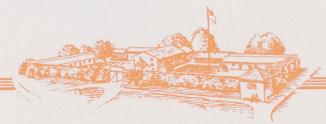

Nicholls surprised himself by tossing the platter 135 feet, winning the event. He also took second in the shot. Millard came through with a second in the 220 and second in the 440, and Bennett won both the hurdle events, thus piling up Sacramento's points.

SACRAMENTO 78, MODESTO 43

Taking all but three first places out of a possible thirteen, Fred Earle's track crushed Modesto Junior College. Parsons was the surprise of the day, distinguishing himself well in the mile and proving that he would make a perfect "black horse" for the conference meet.

The outstanding feature of the day was Wells' running the hundred yard dash in the phenomenal time of 9.8 and the 220 in 21:8. Bardin, close on the heels of Wells, took second in both sprints.

Chaix surpassed his former work of the season when he heaved the javelin out 182 feet, taking the event in easy style. Nicholls managed to beat his old rival Harvey in the discus by two inches, with a throw of 131 feet. As a whole, the team looked its best in this meet; the heat of the day limbered everyone up so that he could do his best.

20-30 RELAYS

In the relay races the Panther squad came through with second place and missed first by only a few points. Perhaps the most interesting event of the evening was the College class medley, in which Everett Winn, the Panther captain, proved himself superior to the San Jose anchor man, and won the race for the Sacramento team. Nicholls came through with a first in the football throw with Fishback second. Bill Sims proved himself an "iron man" when he pulled up from fourth to second in the mile relay and then ran a splendid 440 on the medley team. Art Chaix tossed the javelin out 188 feet for a second. Wells and Bardin came through with a third and fourth in the hundred, thereby adding to the Panther digits. Morrison showed his heels to his principal conference contenders in the high hurdles, taking a second place in a field of selected hurdlers.

BASEBALL

Coach Harry Applequist, baseball coach of the Panthers, may well feel gratified in that he has one of the best ball teams turned out in the Junior College. For the first time interest did not die out before the season was over. The team finished well up in the league and enjoyed many very close and exciting games.

The contest with San Jose State was the principal practice game in preparation for the heavy conference schedule, and San Jose was taken into conference in both games of the series.

The first conference game came with San Mateo on the opponent's grounds. The series was split. Warren Rouse, Bud Waters and Gordon Daniels pitched good ball in these games, with Tony Beard and Jack Stewart behind the plate.

Menlo came to Sacramento and returned home with one victory and a defeat. Both games were very close. The first went ten innings with the Panthers coming out on top; and Menlo won the last game in the last frame when they put on a batting spree and smothered the Panthers under with several runs.

CREW

Working its way to popularity, the Panther crew of 1931 has made remarkable progress which will within a short time develop this sport into the most popular activity in the college.

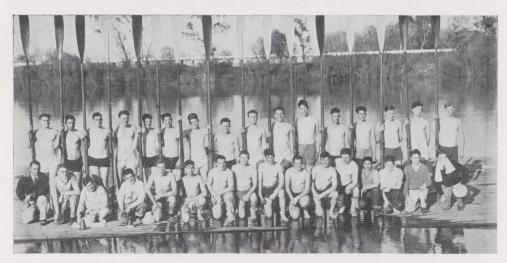

A great deal of this can be credited to Coach Glen Mercer, who has taken over the reigns this semester with much enthusiasm.

A new crew house at the Wol-bro landing has been secured for the crewmen by the 20-30 Club, who also deserve much credit for keeping the crew on the water when at the point of sinking. A new shell at this time from the University of California enabled the Panthers to put three shells on the water at one time.

Due to much difficulty in being able to get on the water to practice, only one race was held during the fall semester. It was at this time that the crew house changed to mark the greatest improvement negotiated by this organization during its existence.

Near the last of the semester the Capital City oarsmen went to Berkeley and encountered the Bears on the Oakland Estuary. The first shell defeated its nearest competitor by about six lengths. The second shell lost by a few lengths while the third boat, which had not practiced more than a few times, beat its opponents by a good margin.

Rowland Sweet was elected to captain the shell throughout the spring season and was indeed a real leader. The first competition came with Bear Frosh on the Estuary. Two shells competed and both were defeated by the Californians several lengths. The weather was not like that which prevails on the Sacramento River. "Babe" Dunwoody, former Panther coach, showed his enthusiasm by cooperating with Coach Mercer in a general way.

As a special attraction to the 20-30 relays the Panthers again had the opportunity of meeting the Californians on the Sacramento River. The race was very slow, due to a great deal of wind, and the numerous motor boats made the river very choppy.

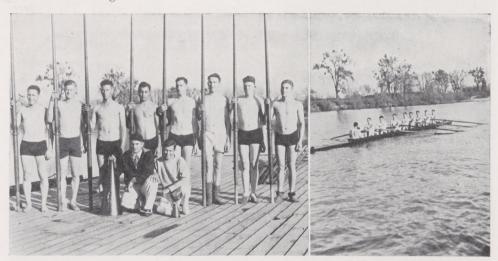

Captain Rowland Sweet

The Panther first boat finished first, five lengths ahead of the Panthers' second shell and ten lengths in front of the Berkeley boat.

Those who won letters for rowing in the varsity crew are: Captain Sweet, Mc-Geeghan, Granados, Wall, Swayne, Woodard, Hanlin, Stone, Herman, Hendrickson, and Googins, coxswain.

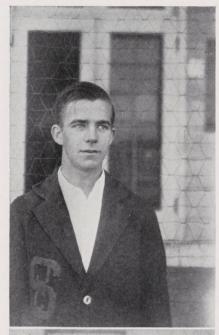

Minor awards were given to Gayner, Huhs, Kinney, Burr, Berkenkamp, Dumars, Norton and Rustigan.

TENNIS

Developing a good all round tennis squad, Coach Fred Earle coached the Panther tennisers through a mediocre season.

Captain Ted Gruhler, in charge of the team a great deal of the time, came through in the conference to play off for the individual champion of the league. He and Elliott MacSwain, who played No. 2 position, were eliminated from the conference finals in the doubles by San Mateo. Had more experience been acquired by the third and fourth men, Sacramento would have had a great chance to take the conference.

Harlon Thompson, Ward Krebs, Bob Hocking and Don Thompson were other members of the team.

A marvelous practice season was enjoyed by the Panthers, who took everything that came their way. St. Ignatius high school was the first to fall before the Panther onslaught by the score of 5-1. College of the Pacific journeyed to Sacramento and returned home after playing the locals nine matches, with none to their credit. In a return play, the Stockton team beat the Panthers by a single match. The University of California turned out to be the only obstacle in the path of the Sacramentans during their preparation for conference competition. They were beaten in all their matches.

The first of the conference series was with the powerful Menlo team. Menlo had an exceptionally strong team in that they were strong in their third and fourth men.

Playing far from their best the Panther team lost five of the six matches played. Ted Gruhler was the only one of the Panther squad to win a match. Gruhler and MacSwain came close to taking their doubles set but were nosed out by a close margin.

San Mateo also proved to be a barrier to the Panther progress for championship honors in the league. MacSwain was the only single victor of the day, taking his opponent in two hard fought sets. Ted Gruhler was defeated by Cosgrove, after taking the first set. The Panthers won one set of doubles to lose the tournament 4-2.

Altogether upsetting the dope, the Modesto Pirates beat the Panther racqueteers in three out of five matches. The Panthers were the best team, but were not up to form. The day was one of much wind and no accuracy was possible.

Although not up to expectations, the tennis team came out fairly well. Captain Ted Gruhler played in the individual tournoment with Cosgrove of San Mateo for the championship of the conference.

SWIMMING

Swimming, under the supervision of Coach Fred Earle, has for the first time in the Sacramento Junior College come into its own.

A very successful season has been enjoyed with the meeting of many teams who have offered splendid competition for the Panther contestants.

The strongest team in the race for championship honors was the Menlo Junior College which emerged victorious in its encounter with the locals by the score of 38-25. Two meets held with the San Francisco State Teachers College proved to be a great success even though the Panthers lost one of the meets. Lodi and Sacramento high schools helped to fill out the Junior College schedule and proved to be worthy opponents.

The fine success of the team was no doubt due to the untiring cooperation between Fred Earle and the team, as well as his splendid coaching.

The members of the team were: Captain Bill Geery, Fitzsimmons, Harry Payne, Clarence Campbell, Tony Beard, "Bus" Geery, Meredith, McCarthy and Fred Seaborn.

GOLF

Golf this semester jumped into major interest at the Junior College because of the fact that there was such a galaxy of stars gathered at the institution. Included in the list were: Bill Dwyer, captain, champion of the Del Paso Country Club; Franklin Spickard, runner-up in the City Amateur Championship; Stennet Sheppard, Kenneth Naumann, Irvin Manasse and Phil Manasse.

Many teams were played during the course of the year and a great many triumphs were enjoyed by the members of the team. Included in the list of contestants for the season are: Modesto Junior College, California Freshmen and Sacramento High School. An excellent showing was made in the conference championship at Menlo.

This is the best team that has ever aggregated at the Junior College, and with the same team next year a great deal more is expected.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

The Women's Athletic Association of the Sacramento Junior College functions for the purpose of promoting interest in Athletics, and of creating a higher spirit of good sportsmanship among the women of the college. The Association is affiliated with the Athletic conference of American College women. The governing board is a council composed of the officers, the sport managers, the class representatives, and the faculty advisor. Requirements for active membership include membership in the Associated Student Body, maintain a passing grade in all subjects, and participation in two seasons of W. A. A. sports. The activities offered during the year are hockey, basketball, baseball, tennis, archery, swimming horseback riding and golf.

The officers of the Association are: President, Helen McArthur; Vice-President, Rose Reed; Secretary, Edra Wells; Treasurer, Mary Ansen; General Sports Manager, Marcella Howard. The sport managers are: Hockey, Rose Reed; basketball, Dorothy Hooper; golf, June Harper; tennis, Dorothy Parkinson; archery, Dorothy Taffe; baseball, Freda Kauffman; swimming, Gertrude Mason; horseback riding, Edith Mitchell. Miss Kathryn Thomas, a graduate from the University of California at Los Angeles, is the faculty advisor.

HOCKEY

Hockey was the first sport of the fall semester for girls' athletics this year. The first part of the season was spent in learning the technique of the game, but later in the season teams were organized and interclass games were played. These games proved to be full of many thrills and spectacular plays.

BASKETBALL

The season of basketball was one of great excitement this year. There was a good turnout and everyone worked well together. Part of the time was spent in learning the fundamentals of the game, and then the interclass games were held.

GOLF

Golf is a newly organized W. A. A. sport, having been started this spring. Most of them are beginners, and no team has been organized, as yet. A large number of girls enrolled in the classes. With much pep and enthusiasm the season went through very successfully.

TENNIS

There has been a great deal of enthusiasm in tennis this year. This sport requires individual skill, endurance and judgment. A large number of girls have enrolled in the classes and have been given opportunities to play in the various tournaments held during the semester.

ARCHERY

Each year the number of participants in this sport has increased and now many are finding archery a very enjoyable activity. It is another sport which requires individual skill, poise, grace, and beauty of movement. As the arrow hits the gold of the target there is a thrill which is seldom found elsewhere

SWIMMING

Swimming is fast becoming one of the most popular activities at Sacramento Junior College. The preliminary swimming season, which lasted from September to October, was started with a swimming party at Riverside Baths. The regular season began in March, with instructions being given in beginning, intermediate and advanced swimming. Excellent work was accomplished by these groups.

BASEBALL

Baseball season started with a bang. Many girls signed up making it possible for several good teams. Due to the good weather the girls had opportunity for a great deal of practice. Most of the time was spent in practice, where many of the girls proved their ability as baseball players.

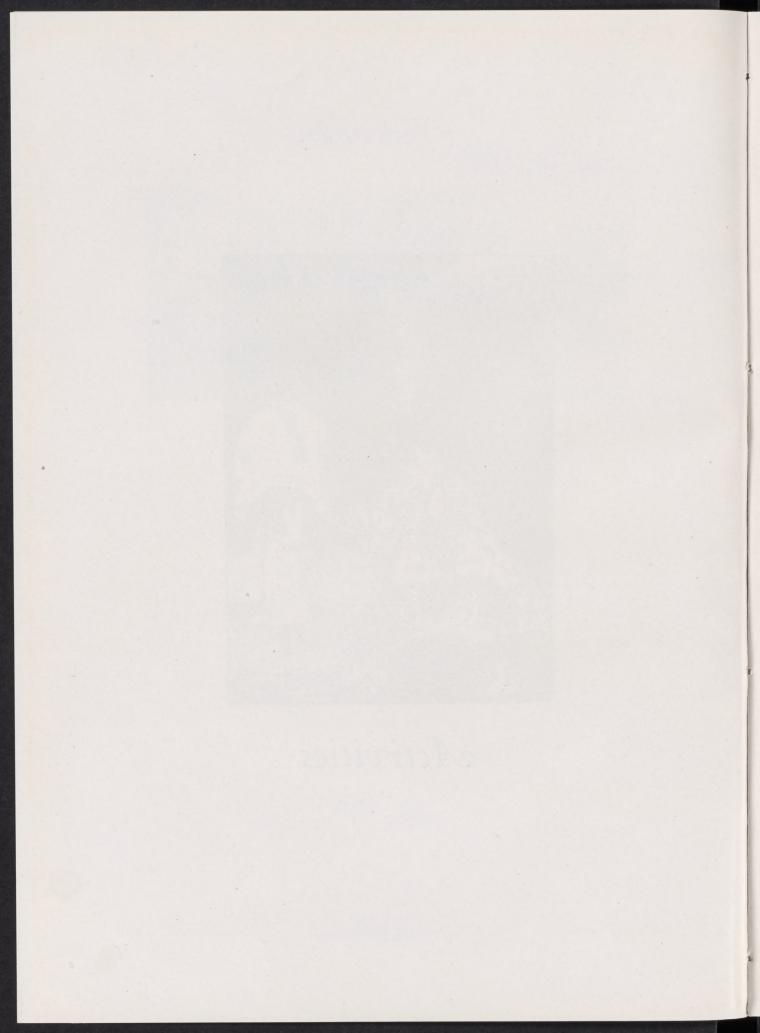

HORSEBACK RIDING

Much enthusiasm has been shown in horseback riding. A great many girls enrolled in the various classes offered. There were instructions for both beginners and advanced students. Twenty lessons were given, during which many girls became very skilled in jumping as well as riding. Both Fall and Spring seasons ended with a horse show in which all girls competed for honors. After each horse show a dinner was given for the students. The instructions are given at the Hagginwood Riding Club, where many marvelous horses are available for the use of the students.

Debate

PICTEER TO LEEP TO LEE

Mr. Everett, Coach G. Mehren B. Perkins H. Thurmond

DEBATE

Intense interest and enthusiasm in debating has prevailed at Sacramento Junior College this year. This is partly because contest debating, decided by three judges, has replaced last year's non-decision debates, and competition has therefore been very keen. Also a great deal of the interest is no doubt due to the importance of the questions debated, for these have been real problems of society. The debaters hope that these debates have clarified the issues in the minds of those who listened, as well as sharpened the wits of those participating.

Most of Sacramento's debates were part of the California Coast Debate League schedule, composed of Modesto Junior College, Santa Rosa Junior College, San Mateo Junior College, and Sacramento Junior College. This year the league adopted a "circular" system of debates. By this plan the affirmative team stays at home to debate one college, while the negative team travels to a different college on the same day. The order of opponents rotates so that one debates a different pair of colleges each time. Then if one college drops out, the "circle" is merely narrowed, and the other two colleges which were to be its opponents, debate with each other.

The California Coast Debate League held its annual convention in Sacramento on May 1-2. Hunter Thurmond, president of the league, presided. Delegates attended from the colleges in the league and from colleges desiring to enter. The program and questions for the coming year were arranged and some new provisions were decided upon.

Twelve people from Sacramento Junior College took part in intercollegiate debates this year, having won their places in the tryouts which Coach R. W. Everett conducts some time before each debate. Of these twelve four were volunteers while the rest were enrolled in Mr. Everett's debate class.

Of the twelve only four had had previous college debating experience. With such a green squad, Sacramento's debating season started none too successfully. Rather than overwork his star debaters, Mr. Everett has tried to give the others a chance to develop their argumentative powers by experience. His policy has been to produce debaters, rather than victories. Most of these debaters can vindicate their careful training only by upholding Sacramento Junior College's standard in higher institutions. Only one of them, Dorsett Phillips, is being left here for next year's squad.

Mr. Everett was aided in his coaching by Mr. James Hughes, public speaking instructor. At times Mr. Hughes accompanied the team to other colleges. The debate managers were: First semester, Ronald Chinn; second semester, George Mehren.

The first debate of the year took place the last Friday in October. Pastor Panay and Betty Perkins upheld the affirmative of the question, Resolved, that the Philippine Islands should be granted complete independence within five years, against Modesto Junior College. Panay, in spite of a language handicap, made a most fervent appeal for the independence of his homeland. He showed that the islands were now ready to take care of themselves. Miss Perkins coolly and concisely explained why it was the United States' duty, as well as her interest, to grant the Philippines their rights.

The negative team, Ronald Chinn and George Mehren, went to Santa Rosa. Both inexperienced, they lost a close 2-1 contest to Stockstead and Donovan, a fighting Irishman with a "gift of gab" almost equal to that of Mehren.

Resolved, that in case of another war, wealth, as well as man, should be subject to conscription, was the subject for the second league debate. Santa Rosa came here to take the decision from our affirmative team, Thomas Flynn and Karl Jarvis. Miller Donovan, one of the most clever opponents met this year, spoke extemporaneously but apparently convinced the judges that our boys would be advocating government operation of industry in time of war. Although the home team lost on the view that they were merely advocating a heavier tax on the wealth produced, they showed wonderful preparation and knowledge of their subject.

Howard Gould and Richard Dempsey also lost at Modesto. This completed the first semester's record of four straight defeats, and showed the squad they were meeting strong opponents.

With the opening of a new semester Sacramento J. C. debaters showed a grim determination to avenge the previous semester's record. Consequently, on February 17, when Alice Sorenson and Margaret Woolley, of Weber College, Ogden, Utah, stopped here on their annual debating tour of the state, the worm turned. Ronald Chinn and Karl Jarvis took a very close 2-1 decision on the affirmative of the subject, Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt free trade. This is the third time the well-known Weber debate tour has included our college.

A different type of debate was next held here on March 20 with the San Jose State Teachers' College. Instead of two-man teams, each side contained three debaters, with consequently shorter talks. Robert Driver, Richard Dempsey and Tom Flynn disproved, to the score of 3-0, the resolution, That advertising of commodities as practiced today by manufacturers, wholesalers, and dealers is more harmful than beneficial to society. This contest cheered Sacramento debate fans in more ways than one, for San Jose kept the audience in laughter most of the time.

The third debate of the league schedule, March 27, was on the subject, Resolved, that the United States should immediately recognize the present government of Soviet Russia. Coach Everett, determined to break Modesto's winning record, sent two of his best speakers to present the negative side. The contrast in the debaters seemed to be a happy combination, Betty Perkins, who is a quick but steady thinker, driving right to the point, and George Mehren, who rises to the very heights of eloquence, using a vocabulary that puts Webster himself to shame. At any rate, they waved the red flag of bolshevism successfully enough to win, 2-1.

Maria Zallio and Hunter Thurmond asserted the affirmative here against an exceedingly plucky team from San Mateo. Our team, two typical representatives of high scholarship, each burdened with about 20 units of work, had also shown their love of debate and school spirit. Neither were members of the debate class, having entered the debate as a purely voluntary activity. They were out-debated, 2-1.

The last league debate of the year was on the same subject as the Weber debate, Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt free trade. Ronald Chinn and Karl Jarvis again defended the affirmative, this time against Modesto. Dorset Phillips, a new recruit, and George Mehren went to Santa Rosa on the negative. The affirmative were quiet speakers, depending solely on the logic of their arguments. Jarvis, as last speaker, gave his usual effective refutation. Their opponents took full advantage of their position to throw down objections, and the affirmative, as is usual in this question, had difficulty in clearly solving all these points in the short time allowed to them. Mehren and Phillips likewise had difficulty in San Mateo. Phillips' earnest manner and Mehren's smooth talk were very effective in appealing to popular prejudice.

To finish the forensic season Sacramento J. C. entered the annual W. C. T. U oratorical contest Each contestant prepared a ten minute talk on the subject: The best way to educate for national sobriety.

The winner of the first place, Robert Driver, received a prize and entered the state competition. Last year Hunter Thurmond won the local contest and placed second in the state contest.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Music Department of the Sacramento Junior College ranks high among the lower division music conservatories, colleges, and universities in the state. Beginning in 1924 with a small membership, this department has been enlarged to accommodate eight hundred and eighteen students who are interested in music.

The past year has marked tremendous activity in the music department. In addition to appearing before the college, the groups have responded to the demands of the outside circles.

The band played for our football games and assemblies, and gave a concert in the spring.

The orchestra has accepted an unusual number of requests for performances. Some of their most noteworthy appearances were in the Annual Concert, Lions' Club, KFBK, assemblies, joint concert with the McNeil Club, afternoon recital at the Tuesday Club, concert during Music Week, and The Rivals.

The Men's Glee Club, the Women's Glee Club, the Freshman Women's Trio, the Sophomore Women's Trio, the String Trio, the String Quartet, and the Brass Quartet have appeared many times at various recitals.

In summing up the activities of the past year, the music department finds that it has concluded a year exceeding all past achievements in completeness and number of presentations.

The Junior College String Trio has become a traditional organization of S. J. C. Formerly, it was composed of women students, but this year Mr. Burnam chose to make it a mixed group. The trio has had more engagements to play than any other musical group in the college. At each performance, it upheld the honor of the Junior College.

Dramatic Arts

John Lawrence Seymour

THE DRAMATIC ART DEPARTMENT

The Dramatic Art Department of the Sacramento Junior College is equal to or above that of any other college in the west. Accordingly, only plays of the highest quality are presented. These productions are selected to represent different periods and styles.

The department is ably directed by John Laurence Seymour with the capable assistance of William P. Halstead. Both men have studied drama extensively in this country and in Europe. Mr. Seymour has made two trips to Europe and Mr. Halstead spent last summer there. Many ideas which have been put into practice on our stage have been the result of these trips. For instance, the stylized production of "The Importance of Being Earnest" was the result of a similar performance witnessed in London by Mr. Halstead.

This play was one of four produced during the year, two of which were directed by Mr. Seymour and the other two by Mr. Halstead. Also numerous one act plays have been produced under the direction of students. Several of these plays have been taken out on tours, "The Importance of Being Earnest" was taken to Vacaville, and the fifth act of "Tragedy of Dido" was presented in San Francisco at the Speech Art Teachers convention.

The Dramatic Art Department offers a varied selection of courses. Besides the acting classes, there is a course in history of drama, a course in Shakespeare, a voice and diction course, a pantomime class, and the two technical courses in stagecraft and makeup. Mr. Seymour handles the classes in acting, history, and Shakespeare, while Mr. Halstead teaches voice and diction, pantomime, and the technical classes, and also supervises the technical end of the productions.

There are two organizations connected with the department: the Dramatic Art Society, open to those who have appeared in a production and are taking a technical course, and Delta Psi Omega, a national honor society open to those who have proved themselves worthy.

Shop work

TECHNICAL DEPARTMENT

When a play unfolds itself on the stage few people realize the work that has gone on before or that goes on back stage. They realize only what they see, the finished product.

The house lights go off; the curtain opens on an attractive room completely furnished. A character comes in; he is old, with many wrinkles and perhaps a full beard. Other characters appear, all different. How are these produced? Who is responsible for them?

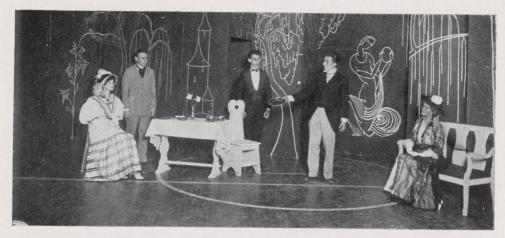

Weeks before the production the students gather at the Art Building during their spare time to hammer, saw, glue and paint scenery. Walls, doors, windows, fireplaces, stairways, and many other articles are put together. Sometimes old second hand furniture is bought and remodeled so as to be suitable. In order that the student may learn more about these details, courses are given in stagecraft, lighting and makeup, under Mr. Halstead. The makeup of the different characters is put on by those who have taken or are taking the course in makeup. Here the students learn the various types of makeup: juvenile, old age, oriental, etc.

Although these factors are not so important as the play itself, yet they are important. The play may be presented without the use of scenery or makeup, but the employment of these adds to the beauty of the show and the enjoyment of the spectator, and, after all, that is what counts.

W. Halstead

Importance of Being Earnest

THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST

After seeing such a delightful play as "The Importance of Being Earnest," one realizes of how little importance names really are. Cecily Cardew and Gwendolen Fairfax, however, were both determined they should marry someone named Earnest. The bubbles burst, however, when both their dear Earnests turn out to be plain Jack Worthing and Algernon Moncrieff. But, after all, what difference did the name make? No difference, say our heroines, and all ends well, at least after Lady Bracknell is convinced that the couples are quite suited to each other.

The play is a farce of 1895, and has become one of the modern classics. It is a satire on the sentimentality of the age. In order to make the wit more pointed before a modern audience, the scenery, costumes and acting in this production were very skillfully exaggerated in a stylized mode.

GRAMMAR

"Grammar," even the word makes one recall memories, not so fond, of struggles with English and foreign languages. This droll farce from the French of Eugene Labiche realistically shows us the struggles of another to learn grammar. The situations here prove that girls are useful in more ways than one. Fathers who have daughters like Blanche can readily see why this ungrammatical parent did not wish to give up his daughter even to the son of one so interested in old Roman armor and writings as was Poitrinas. A typical maid of all work added enjoyment to the play by breaking several dishes and burying them where a cow could eat and become ill, and the excavator could find the pieces and so prove to the family that a Roman army once fought a battle upon the land. "Grammar" was presented on two successive nights.

DIDO—QUEEN OF CARTHAGE

In honor of the two thousandth anniversary of Vergil's birth the dramatic department presented "Dido—Queen of Carthage," a romantic tragedy by Christopher Marlowe, based upon Vergil's Æneid. The tragedy was quite effectively produced in a modern way. In spite of the fact that the story was written long ago, the play held great interest. The costumes, the appearance of Hermes, messenger of the gods, the sentencing of the nurse, and the Ethiopian slaves going about their duties, all played upon the imagination of the audience, bringing them closely into the life of Queen Dido. The kindling of the fire, with the flames and shadows, was a beautiful moment in the action and finally the shadow of the Queen casting herself into the flames because the man she worshipped was leaving her has stamped itself in the memories of those who were so fortunate as to witness this play.

THE LITTLE SHEPHERDESS

The old fairy tale style, of the wishing ring and the fairy godmother, was brought back to us in the dainty little sentimental comedy "The Little Shepherdess." Somewhere in the woods outside the wall of the king's garden—once upon a time—the little shepherd and his shepherdess sweetheart meet. They are very happy in their adventure of love. But along comes the princess with her wishing ring and spoils for a moment their happiness. She wishes for the love of the shepherd, then that the shepherdess may forget her love for the shepherd. One last wish remains. Somehow her wishing ring has not brought her complete happiness, the princess finds. Instead it has brought misery upon the two sweethearts. She at last uses her final wish to obtain happiness for others, and through this she realizes that by making others happy she too is receiving a little bit of happiness.

Rivals

THE RIVALS

"The Rivals"! Even the name of Sheridan's delightful classic comedy of manners suggests romance and many entanglements. Lydia Languish refuses to marry several desirable men all because she longs to be different. She will give up wealth and social life to marry a hard working ensign. And oh! how disappointing to find the romantic ensign is after all only the son of Sir Anthony Absolute, and a desirable husband for any young lady! Poor Lydia refuses Jack Absolute when his identity is discovered and takes her troubles to Julia, her cousin. But Julia, the little flirt, has troubles of her own with Faulkland, her depressed lover, all because she sings and knows all the steps of a country dance. On top of all this, Sir Lucius O'Trigger draws Jack and Faulkland into a duel and all seems lost, for Mrs. Malaprop refuses to let the young ladies rescue their friends. But Mrs. Malaprop discovers Sir Lucius, her secret passion, is in the mix-up, and in spite of it being inelegant for the girls to rush to the battle, she takes it upon herself to end the conflict. With the aid of Sir Anthony the duel is stopped and Lydia proves a friend in need and forgives Jack for being Sir Anthony's son.

Rivals

Romance was also greatly added through elaborate stage settings and gorgeous costumes.

Spectacle is a great asset to any play and in "The Rivals" the flowing hooped skirts of the ladies and the knee breeches of the gallants took the audience right into Bath, the English city where all this scandal takes place. Spectators relived the lives of their English ancestors as they pitied poor Lydia, laughed at the capers of Bob Acres, and wanted to shake the morose and suspicious Faulkland. On the whole, this play was an excellent example of the type we like to see our College Players appear in. Although Sheridan's play was a beautiful one for diction and acting, we owe much to the stage hands for the popularity of this play.

DRAMATIS PERSONAE

Thunderstorm

Thunderstorm

THE THUNDERSTORM

The most difficult production of the year was Ostrovsky's masterpiece "The Thunderstorm." This production was the first performance of the play in the West. Although a hard play to attempt, under Mr. Seymour's able direction, it proved the most spectacular and interesting play in characterization, and in emotionalism that the college has had the opportunity to witness in many months. The play itself is an interesting example of the Russian school of drama, showing, in realistic pictures, the lives of the Russian people. The plot is one requiring heavy emotional acting, but it is contrasted and balanced with light clever comedy scenes. The play tells of the parents' stern rule over the family and the tragic outcome of such unhappy lives as many of the children lead. Ostrovsky gives us a clear picture of this life through dynamic characterization as well as through a dramatic plot, which is filled with emotional and spectacular incidents.

A. O. P. is a Biological Honor Society whose purpose is to further biological interests and to promote friendship among the students studying biological sciences. At the meetings, which are held twice a month on Thursday evenings, business and social affairs are combined. Interesting speakers have been obtained for nearly all the meetings.

Those eligible to membership are honor students in biological laboratory classes and all Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental, Pre-Nursing, Agriculture, Forestry, Botany, Zoology and Bacteriology majors. Special meetings and field trips are planned for groups with specific interests.

The Mu Kappa Phi, music sorority, was organized in 1929 for the women students who are majoring in music. The purpose of this organization is to give the majors more opportunity to hear and discuss music. The most important accomplishment of the society was the Musical Tea given in the Spring semester. This performance revealed some splendid talent in the sorority.

Joe Jr. College says that a fraternity house is a peculiar place. The boys are either all out or all in.

Nit: "So you are going to the University of Chicago. What are you taking?"

Wit: "Triggernometry."

Felt hats may come and straw hats may go, but the high hat goes on forever.

Salesman (at auto show): "This is the type of car that pays for itself, sir."

Joe College: "Well, as soon as it has done that, you can have it delivered at my garage."

It must be awfully disappointing to a fraternity man to have to go to college for four years and have nothing to show for it but an education.

Delta S (as they danced): "I believe a girl should have a mind of her own. I, for one, am not easily led." Phi Lam (struggling): "So I notice."

College is just like a washing machine; you get out of it just what you put in, but you'd never necognize it.

J. MacDonald: "I've learned my lesson. I'm through with women."

R. Hirst: "And I've learned mine. I'm through saying I'm through with women."

Mr. Swan: "What did King Darius say when he found that the lion hadn't harmed David?"

C. Jasper: "Such popularity must be deserved."

Impression of a freshman after receiving three out of a possible four "cinch" notices.

What this country needs is a good five cent miniature golf course.

Part of the usual scenery on the porch of the O. A. K. house after the noon-day "chow."

She was only the optician's daughter-two glasses and she made a spectacle of herself.

THE PICTURES.

Kathryn Reed's father: "As I passed the parlor door last evening I saw my daughter sitting on your lap; have you any explanation?"

Roland Sweet: "Yes, sir; I got here before any of the others."

Bored Friend (to very cautious driver): "I say, don't you find it positively thrilling to sit gripping the wheel while the kids on scooters whiz by?"

Speed Cop: "What's the big idea in going so fast? You were going fifty miles an hour. Who do you think you are?"

Co-ed: "How dare you speak to me like that? I'm a Delta!"

Speed Cop: "I don't care if you are a whole peninsula, you're under arrest."

Especially posed for this portrait by Johnny Adams, one of the campus social butterflies.

Sid Smith, Junior, follows in the footsteps of his illustrious father, a late student of this college.

B. Clare: "I love you as I've never loved anyone before." M. Clayton: "That's a heck of a reason."

Cox Googins: "Use this oar." Stroke Stone: "Or what?"

Co-ed (to librarian): "I want that crew story by Ibanez." Librarian: "What?"

Co-ed: "Yes, the Four Oarsmen."

G. Gastman (phoning down from his room): "Night clerk?" Snippy Clerk: "Well, what's biting you?" G. Gastman: "That's what I'd like to know."

If all the saxophone players in the world were laid end to end, they would still insist on playing the "St. Louis Blues."

K. T.: "That's the first time I've ever been kissed!"

O. A. K .: "But you told me that last week."

K. T.: "Oh, was that you?"

No, dear students, the pole vault is not the Bank of Warsaw.

She: "What's your name?" He: "Juan." She: "Aw, go wan yourself!"

Sweet Young Thing: "Stop! My lips are for another!"

* *

Fresh Young Man: "Well, hold still then and you'll get another."

Two of the boys in Jurgen's orchestra going through their paces.

Townsman: "How come they give pledge pins to freshmen?"

Frater: "So people can tell where to take them when they're lost."

Soc. Prof.: "To what single thing do you attribute the large recent increase in marriages in the U. S.?"

J. Bird: "To the invention of the rumble seat, sir!"

A co-ed, generally speaking, is generally speaking.

De Bruler: "Are you the girl I kissed between dances?" Roberta K.: "Which dances?"

First twelve-year-old: "Has your brother come home from college yet?"

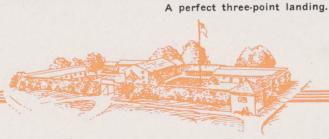

Second Ditto: "Either that or the car has been stolen."

Prof.: "Jack is certainly a steady boy, isn't he?"

Jack's boss: "If he were any steadier he wouldn't even move."
